

LOCAL MAN LOCAL ISSUES

It is often said that MP's are only seen at election time but I wanted to be different. I have lived in the constituency all of my life and spend as much time as possible in the community.

I hold regular surgeries across the constituency and attend many events throughout the year to meet and listen to local people. My office is easily accessible in the central area of Kettering where two full time and two part time staff are on hand if you have a problem, need advice or wish to raise an issue.

In an age of information technology it has never been easier to contact your MP. By logging on to the web site you can also register your views on important issues of the day.

A GROWING COMMUNITY

The Kettering Constituency continues to grow and with more people we will need additional jobs and extra investment in health, transport, education and other public services.

Since the publication of the Milton Keynes and South Midland study I have raised the matter in Parliament on a number of occasions through written questions and an adjournment debate on the 9th July 2003.

I believe that any growth in the constituency should be in line with local needs and must be subject to full consultation with the local authorities and other stakeholders.

I will continue to ensure your views are heard and welcome comments on any future development. Full details and 'Briefing Notes' are available on my web site or from my office.
